

REVITALIZES SHEPPARD CASE — Mystery writer Earl Stanley Gardner, right, interviews Donald Joseph Wedler, 23, second from left, in Deland, Florida, where Wedler's "confession" to the murder of Marilyn Sheppard on July 4, 1954, in Bay Village, Ohio, has sparked new action in the celebrated murder case. Results of a lie detector test given to Wedler under sponsorship of Gardner's "Court of Last Resort" have led to these developments: Dr. Samuel Sheppard, now serving a life prison term for the murder of his wife, has agreed to take a lie detector test at Ohio State Penitentiary in Columbus. Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber has proposed that the state give Dr. Sheppard the test. Ohio's Governor C. William O'Neill had authorized Gardner's "court" to make the test, prior to Gerber's request.

Lie Test For Sheppard Is Postponed

Wire Casts Doubt On Confession Of Man In Florida

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill said today Dr. Sam Sheppard will not receive a lie detector test until the "confession" of a Florida prisoner that he killed the doctor's wife is determined to be true.

The governor announced his position after a telegram from the unofficial "Court of Last Resort" headed by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, cast doubt upon the validity of a confession by Donald Wedler.

Wedler said he bludgeoned a woman during a burglary on the same night that Dr. Sam's wife, Marilyn, was killed in her Cleveland suburban home. Sheppard, who protested his innocence, is serving a life sentence for her slaying.

O'Neill, who last week gave permission for a lie detector test to Sheppard, changed his position after receiving this telegram from the Court of Last Resort, an unofficial body created to prove innocent those who may have been wrongly convicted.

"We are still not prepared to take as true the confession of Donald Wedler. But following our examination of him in Florida we admit to a growing conviction that he may well have committed the murder of Marilyn Sheppard. However, no one should form any final opinion on this man until after there has been a lot more investigative work done and until there has been a psychiatric investigation."

"There are some important major conflicts between his story and existing fact. These conflicts may have been the result of drug reactions and attempts to rationalize his acts or just plain deception."

CBS Is Making Survey of TV Reception Here

The Columbia Broadcasting System is conducting a technical engineering survey of television reception in Sedalia, in the wake of a recent KDRO-TV bid for network affiliation with CBS.

Arriving about Friday from New York, a blue 1955 Chrysler station wagon, unmarked but with a 40-foot antenna operated with a hydraulic lift, has been cruising the city. The technicians have identified themselves as being with CBS.

It has been KDRO-TV's contention in its discussions with CBS that Kansas City's Channel 5, which has a CBS network affiliation, cannot provide CBS coverage in this area because Channel 6 from KDRO-TV blocks it out. In addition, the CBS programs coming in from other distant points are distorted or the pictures contain flicker, not because of interference from KDRO-TV but because of the distance between Sedalia and the point of origin.

KDRO-TV officials today said that the survey team may also conduct a telephone check on local TV reception and they asked that the individuals contacted tell exactly the true conditions so that an accurate survey may be made.

Appeals To Jury In Trial

First of 4 Defense Attorneys Begins Review of Evidence In Segregation Case

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. closed his summation in the Clinton segregation trial today with a powerful appeal to the all-white jury to see that law and order is upheld in the United States.

"Please keep in mind that an injunction had been issued by this court enjoining people not to interfere with the integration of that (Clinton) high school," he said.

Rapping the table with his fist, letting his booming voice rise to full volume, Crawford thundered: "Do you believe in law and order? An order is an order."

"When an order is issued by this court, it cannot be flouted."

Crawford emphasized to the 10 men and 2 women on the jury that U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor, presiding in this case, had issued orders for the integration of Clinton High School last fall as well as restraining orders to prevent interference with enrolling the Negro students.

Northern segregationist John Kasper and 10 Clinton area residents are on trial for criminal contempt of court for allegedly defying Taylor's injunction.

Clinton High was the first state-supported secondary school in Tennessee to mix the races.

The district attorney focused heavily on the actions of Kasper as the alleged instigator of the violence that flared at Clinton after admission of the Negroes.

"John Kasper stated his purpose when he came to Clinton. He said he was going to get those Negroes out of the school," Crawford said.

"By mid-November, he hadn't achieved one single objective. He wanted trouble and he had to get some help to achieve his purpose."

Crawford hammered at the point, quoting the testimony of school board officials, police officers and residents of Clinton that everything was quiet in the little town of Clinton.

He drew a picture of the Negroes, having started classes when the fall term of the high school opened in August peacefully going to and from their homes every day.

Then, in a step-by-step manner, Crawford drew together the essence of the government's case. He showed how Kasper, together with some other defendants, formed the Tennessee White Citizens Council.

He related how Kasper assisted some high school girls, some of whom are daughters of the defendants, to form the Tennessee White Youth.

He called the meetings, late at night, in the backroom of two cafes at Clinton.

"Here is where the real work was done," Crawford said. "It was not done in the formal meetings of the White Citizens Council."

The courtroom was jammed to overflowing.

Crawford, in the early stages of his 70-minute summation, spoke in a dry, matter-of-fact, almost droning voice. The jurors nevertheless watched him intently.

2 Cars, Boat, In Collision On Hiway 50

Two automobiles were extensively damaged, a 16-foot boat demolished, a boat trailer damaged, and occupants of the two vehicles involved escaped with minor hurts in an accident about 2:35 a.m. Sunday in front of Brown's Service Station on West Highway 50. The driver of one vehicle was issued a summons by the Highway Patrol to appear in the court of Magistrate Frank T. Armstrong on Saturday, July 27.

Kenneth Kay Johnson, 20, of Kansas City, accompanied by Glenn Borchers, also of Kansas City, was headed west, pulling the boat and trailer behind his 1954 Ford sedan. A 1957 Mercury hardtop sedan driven by S-Sgt. John D. Wathen, 25, of Whiteman AFB, was also headed west and crashed into the rear of the trailer and boat.

Johnson told State Trooper Robert Stockell that he was moving slowly and had stopped just prior to the collision to pick up two hitchhikers going to the air base. S-Sgt. Wathen said he believed the units had stopped in front of him and he was unable to avoid striking them.

The boat was rammed into the rear of the Ford, slashing the back of the car open and breaking open the gasoline tank which sprayed gasoline along the highway as the car proceeded on west. The boat was knocked off of the trailer and the trailer was jerked loose from the towing automobile.

Sparks set fire to the gasoline and burned along the highway and flared out just before reaching the car.

The damage to the Ford was (Please turn to page 2, Column 6)

Wants Limitation

Predicts Senate Balk On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) predicted today the Senate will not pass the administration's civil rights bill unless it is limited solely to the protection of voting rights.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, told his colleagues that a provision of the House-passed bill under which the federal government could move toward the enforcement of racial integration "complicates and confuses the issue."

"The Senate will have to get that part out of the bill if it is going to pass any bill at all," he said.

Johnson said "there are many people who are ready to go as far as is legitimately necessary" to guarantee the right to vote. But he said "They are not willing to complicate a simple and direct issue."

Sens. Knowland (R-Calif.) and Humphrey (D-Minn.) have proposed an amendment to repeal an old law permitting the use of federal troops to carry out court orders. This would strike out a provision linking the pending bill to the old law.

Johnson said that, with or without this amendment, Part 3 of the bill — which would authorize enforcement of general civil rights — "complicates the issue beyond human understanding."

"One thing is apparent," he said. "Nobody knows what this section means. The only clear certainty is that it grants road powers — and the limit of those powers is undefined."

"It has been argued that the President would not use these powers. I think that statement is probably accurate. I have confidence in the good faith and integrity of our President."

"I am confident that the President would never sanction the use of the 'third degree.' But my confidence does not mean that I would grant him such power."

"Our votes cannot be based on the assumption that the President will not use extraordinary powers if we go too far. We are supposed to vote our convictions as to the laws of the United States." Senators Anderson (D-Mn.) and Aiken (R-Vt.) have moved to strike out all of Part 3. Knowland and Northern Democratic supporters of the bill have failed thus far

Threatens Mid East Crisis

British Official Says 'Outside' Forces Are Behind Rebellion

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd charged today that "outside" forces are behind a tribal rebellion in a remote Arabian peninsula area. The tribal uprising is threatening a new Middle East crisis.

Lloyd told the House of Commons that forces opposed to the British-supported Sultan of Muscat and Oman "have clearly received assistance from outside territories." He did not elaborate. But the British press has been charging that the uprising has been incited by Saudi Arabia, a friend of the United States.

Lloyd said "small-scale precautionary movements" of British forces already have taken place in response to a plea by the Sultan for support.

Saudi Arabia has received arms from the United States, but Lloyd said he had no knowledge that arms used in the rebellion "are of American origin."

"We know there are modern arms which must have come from territories outside Muscat," he added.

Lloyd made his statement after British government leaders, including top defense officials and Middle East advisors, met with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to consider the crisis.

Already Britain has taken preliminary steps to meet Sultan Said Bin Taimur's appeal for help.

A government spokesman said "small, precautionary troop movements" have been ordered to the area which may be rich in oil.

Three British infantry companies in Kenya also were alerted for possible movement to the area and there were unconfirmed reports that aircraft were alerted in both Cyprus and Iraq. Two British frigates were standing by off Muscat.

Col. Pat Waterfield, retired, the British commander of the Sultan's small forces, has been on leave here, but flew back to Muscat where the temperature was reported to be 130 degrees.

Unconfirmed reports reaching Bahrain in the Persian Gulf said rebels had cut a road leading to Odaiba Airfield in the Sultanate.

The airfield, 15 miles from Muscat, is a supply base for operations of Oman Petroleum Developments, Ltd.

The international implications of the rebellion were serious. Some observers saw a conflict of American and British policy. The care with which the Macmillan government approached the situation made clear that difficult policy issues were involved.

Saudi Arabia is a leading power in persuading other Arab States to accept the Eisenhower doctrine against communism in the Middle East. King Saud of Saudi Arabia, who draws big American oil royalties, is regarded as a friend of the United States.

The rebellion was set off when Imam Ghaleb ben Ali, religious leader of Oman, seized control three days ago of some 5,000 square miles of territory governed by the Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

The Sultan immediately appealed for help from Britain, with whom his government has had treaty relations since 1839.

Claims High Losses

House Starts Query On Storage of Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee begins hearings today on transactions involved in the 1954 storage of government wheat in huge plastic tents in Missouri and Texas.

A committee statement said "tremendous amounts" of wheat deteriorated, and the losses may run to 10 million dollars or more. The matter was publicized last fall when Sen. Scott (D-NC) said in a speech in North Carolina that "the government may have to pay a pretty price to bail out the banks" participating in the storage plan.

Scott said the Burrus Mills Co. of Dallas, Tex., "concocted a very novel scheme for storing wheat" in tents and "sold" the idea to the Agriculture Department. He said he had been told the department decided to enter into contracts involving 13 banks.

Replying to Scott, the Agriculture Department said the department had suffered no losses and "does not expect to do so."

Rep. Fountain (D-NC) said in a weekend statement the inter-governmental relations subcommittee heads will seek "to determine whether the public interest has been properly protected, whether unnecessary losses have occurred, and, if so, whether action can be taken to recover such losses and to prevent further loss."

A committee statement said more than 35 million bushels of government-owned wheat was stored in tents at St. Joseph, Mo., and Fort Worth, Tex., under 1954 agreements with Burrus Mills.

This obscure northern England criminal case blossomed into a national issue for two reasons:

If Vickers is hanged he will be the first person executed under the government's new homicide law which Parliament finally approved a few weeks ago — a law which it was assumed would cut in half the usual dozen or so executions for murder in this country each year.

A century-old movement to abolish capital punishment in Britain has developed increasing force in recent years. The House of Commons, its members voting without party instruction, actually approved an abolition bill Feb. 16, 1956, but the measure subsequently was killed in the House of Lords.

The postponement has caused something of a scheduled problem because a different nuclear device was due to be exploded tomorrow. The Atomic Energy Commission said a meeting would be held later today to figure out which device will be set off next, and when.

Group Attacks Agency Action

Says Agency Is Negligent At Expense of Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Government Operations Committee report rapped Civil Defense officials today for not putting more emphasis on shelters than evacuation in case of an enemy atomic attack.

Goldberg Cafe Robbed Again This Morning

Two Armed Bandits Escape With $717; In Second Robbery

"All right Bud, let's have your money," said a masked bandit to Harry Goldberg at the Goldberg Cafe, 3021 East 50 Highway about 5:55 a.m. Monday.

Goldberg turned over his money $717.75 to the unmasked bandit standing beside the masked bandit who also held a pistol in his hand.

Goldberg had just opened his place of business and was preparing to put his money in the cash register when the two white men entered the place, walked over to the counter and the masked man was the only one who said anything.

As soon as the unmasked man scooped up the money they turned and ran to their 1954 Buick sedan, cream top and red body, and sped away to the west.

The money was in 20, 10, five and one dollar bills along with about three dollars in change. Goldberg said $199.75 of the money was taken in on hunting and fishing licenses, while the $518 was money taken in at the cafe and filling station.

He described the two as being about five feet nine inches tall, wearing dark pants which could have been blue jeans, and dark shirts. The bandit without the mask had a scar on the right side of his face. Both were about 30 years old.

It is the second time in five months that Goldberg has been the victim of a holdup. On the morning of Feb. 4, about 6:30 a.m., a lone Negro bandit walked into his place and held him up, obtaining at that time about $500 in cash.

In the first holdup Goldberg was struck on the right side of his head and knocked out. He was found by Bobby Dick, Marshall, driver for the Wonder Bread Co., who was making a delivery at the time.

Heat No Bother

OHIO STREET, MONDAY AFTERNOON — This is a familiar scene each Monday afternoon at Third and Ohio, as many youngsters wait in line for the movie. Even though the downtown heat is pushing the 100-degree mark, they don't seem to mind the 45-minute wait for the box-office to open. Bicycles apparently are the main mode of transportation for this host of afternoon moviegoers.

Woman Freed From Term For Killing

ALDERSON, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs. Eunice Brillhart, convicted of killing three of her children by dropping them on their heads, walks out from under a life prison sentence today to rejoin her soldier husband and their one remaining child.

Apparently she and Sgt. Robert W. Brillhart hope to pick up a normal life again on a New Mexico Army post.

"Do you still love her and does she love you?" a reporter asked the 26-year-old sergeant when Brillhart visited her yesterday.

"Yes, yes," he replied. "Our feelings toward one another have not changed."

Mrs. Brillhart, 30, is a British subject. She was convicted in 1934 by a U.S. Army court-martial in the deaths of their three young sons.

Her case was reviewed after the Supreme Court recently ruled that military courts have no jurisdiction over civilians who accompany U.S. servicemen abroad. She was ordered released after serving about three years at the federal prison for women here.

Sgt. Brillhart was stationed at an African base in what now is a part of Ethiopia when the three children died between November 1932 and December 1933. The court found she killed them by "dropping them on their heads."

Sources close to the case have said privately that she probably broke under the strain of living in a remote area.

Brillhart said he and his wife will go to Columbus, Ohio, to visit their 6-year-old daughter Diane, then move into family quarters at Sandia base near Albuquerque, N.M., where he is stationed.

Diane has been staying with his parents at Columbus since the trial.

Brillhart visited his wife at the prison for an hour and a half yesterday. He said little to the crowd of both American and British newsmen who tried to question him except to reaffirm his love for her. He was dressed in civilian clothes and appeared nervous.

Athletics Drop Moberly 8 to 1 In Game Here

The Sedalia Athletics pounded Moberly for an 8-1 win Sunday at Liberty Park.

The game was scoreless for five innings and then Sedalia exploded in the sixth inning for five runs, led off by a double by Pitcher Dave Johnson that reached the 363-foot mark in left center field. It was the longest hit of the day.

Moberly got a run off Johnson in the top of the eighth and then ran out of steam. Sedalia rubbed it in with three more runs in the bottom half of the same inning.

Johnson pitched seven and a third innings and was relieved only because of the heat. Ray Estes finished the game for the A's. The Moberly team got only three hits off Johnson.

Bull Higgins led the Sedalia battery with four out of four, and two hits a piece were made by Sam Wiggins, Jim Schumaker, Bill Dey and Jim Fall.

A good crowd attended despite the hot weather.

On Tuesday night, the Athletics will meet the Columbia VFW team in the first of two games against Columbia this week. They will play again on Friday. Tuesday's game begins at 8 p. m. In previous encounters, the A's have won one and the VFW's have won two.

Nine Airmen Die In Navy Plane Crash

TREVISIO, Italy (AP)—Nine American airmen were killed and a tenth lay critically burned today after their Navy Neptune bomber crashed in flames while searching for a missing sister ship.

The P2V patrol bomber side-slipped in gusty winds and crashed yesterday 5,200 feet up on Mt. Pra near the Alpine resort of Sestriere close to the French frontier.

The plane was one of 20 U. S. and Italian aircraft hunting for another Navy P2V which disappeared Friday with 11 aboard.

A party of Italian mountain climbers saw the search plane fall. They pulled two living airmen from the flames that had burned away most of their clothes. The eight others already were dead.

One of the survivors died soon afterward. The other, described as about 19, was taken to a local hospital.

His condition was pronounced critical from burns of the face, chest and arms.

Alice Morris Becomes Bride Of Don Doyle

Miss Dianne Alice Morris, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elliott Morris of Blackwater and SP3 Donald Ray Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Doyle of Boonville, were married Thursday evening, July 11 at eight o'clock at the Federated Church in Blackwater. The Rev. N. O. Wetherell performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Marie Topel accompanied Miss Gayle Heim, Pilot Grove, who sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "O Promise Me," and "The Wedding Prayer."

"The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a street length gown of off white tulle. The close fitting bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and short sleeves. The skirt featured many ruffles. She wore a small white hat with veil and carried a white Bible mounted with red roses and white stephanotis. Her only ornament was a diamond necklace that had been given by her grandfather, the late Henry Morris, to his mother, the late Mrs. T. B. Morris, Arrow Rock, on her golden wedding anniversary.

Bridesmaids were Miss Cleve McCool and Miss Sandra Bailey of Boonville. They were attired in navy blue dresses. Their corsages were of white carnations. Dan Winningham, Boonville, served as best man and Ronnie Mercer, of Blackwater, was groomsmen. Ushers were brothers of the bride, Jimmie and Sammie Morris.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the W.W. Community Center. Miss Peggy Vernon had charge of the gift table. The three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the table. An arrangement of lavender and white garden flowers was on the table also.

The bride was graduated by the Laura Speed Elliott High School with the class of '57 and has been employed at the Cooper County Record.

The groom was graduated by the same school in '54 and was with the highway department until he enlisted in the army more than two years ago. He has been stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood but will leave in August for Oakland, Calif., and from there he will be sent to Hawaii.

Bishop Orders Feud Ridden Church, Closed

NEW YORK (AP)—An Episcopal bishop ordered the closing of a feud-ridden Brooklyn church yesterday to prevent its "being used as a battleground."

Bishop James P. DeWolfe called for the closing of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity until the courts settle a bitter struggle within the congregation.

For nearly a decade the church has been divided over the alleged pro-Communist activities of the Rev. William Howard Melish, its former rector.

He has denied any Communist link.

The closing of the 110-year-old church "until further notice" was announced at the 11 a.m. service by the present rector, the Rev. Dr. Herman S. Sidener. The 107 persons at the service were stunned by the news.

A dozen Brooklyn police detectives were at the church. There were no untoward incidents, however.

A court order recently removed the Rev. Mr. Melish from the pulpit and upheld Dr. Sidener as rector. The ousted cleric is appealing the decision.

During Dr. Sidener's first service July 7 pro- and anti-Melish church members contested over collection plates, and at a "coffee hour" in the parish house that followed the July 14 service, Dr. Sidener was reported knocked to the floor by a pro-Melish member.

In his letter to Dr. Sidener, Bishop DeWolfe mentioned "the disturbances at the service and the coffee hour."

"My solemn judgment therefore to you, as the rector, is that the church and all the parish buildings be closed until the litigation is settled in the courts," said the bishop.

"I am moved to this conclusion because it is my responsibility as bishop to see that nothing disturbs the peace of the church and I cannot tolerate the church edifice being used as a battleground."

The bishop urged Holy Trinity parishioners to worship at other Episcopal churches nearby.

Posted Protest

Rain From a Tree?

DALLAS (AP)—A tree on a crying jag helps keep the W. S. Werners cool.

Branches of the redbud tree spurt tiny jets of a clear liquid. Werner said from a distance it "looks like a fine mist." The branches produce droplets which look similar to "large tears," he said.

A nurseryman, Werner said, told him the trunk may have loaded up on water during the heavy spring rains.

Other Uses For TV Idea

"Heat, ma'am! It was so dreadful here that I found there was nothing left for it, but to take off my flesh and sit in my bones."

That expression in Sydney Smith's Lady Holland Memoirs just about describes how Sedalians have been feeling about the current heat wave.

There's some comfort in wearing Bermuda shorts but this seems to make the flies and mosquitoes more irascible. Those friends who have a puritanical sense about how the male should dress also become more choleric when they see another wearing shorts, no matter how high the temperature.

The heat has affected the TV reception, too. Tubes have given up the ghost and the picture screen looks like a rippling pond. But not much is lost when the viewer is confronted by so many worn out movies of ancient vintage.

Yet no matter how distressing a condition becomes there is always someone with genius to capitalize on it. For instance the editor of the Lexington, Kentucky, Leader expects to make a million dollars by borrowing the TV idea of running old movies and applying this technique to other lines of endeavor.

He suggests that during the summer months, newspapers could run the same comics as they used during the winter months. Instead of tossing away the comics and cross word puzzles each day, the better ones — those the public is least likely to remember reading — could be saved for summer use.

This would save the newspaper paying for a feature service for a full year. The stereotype department would also get a break by not having to cast so many plates. The people would be better served because the comics read once before, would not require too much concentration the second time. Repeating the advertising, and warming over the news, in the manner of 25 and 40 years ago, offers as much appeal as the TV routine of running old movies, and getting paid for it.

As the Kentucky editor anticipates, if the plan works well enough, and he sees no reason why the public should not accept it like it has on TV, the plan could be expanded to take in all sorts of things — preachers could preach old sermons, traffic officers could give old lectures, photographers could supply supply old pictures, restaurants could serve leftovers, parking meters could be slugged with those old plastic sales tax tokens and employers on pay day could hand out canceled checks.

It must be the heat!

Watered Down Bill Would Help Negroes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It would be a bitter pill for them, but Negroes would still be ahead if President Eisenhower's civil rights bill wound up with nothing left but a watered-down bit to protect their voting rights.

Southern Democrats, shooting to kill all four sections of the bill, will fight it piece by piece. They may not succeed entirely. But they've already done it damage. It seems certain whatever is passed will be less than Eisenhower asked.

It must be remembered that in this fight, when the Southerners say they want to amend and soften one section of the bill, they have already said their aim in the end is to destroy altogether. They have been banging away at Section 4, which specifically applies to the protection of voting rights. This section says:

When an individual's voting rights are violated — say by a Southern registrar of voters who won't let a Negro register — the attorney general can step in and ask a federal judge for an order telling the registrar to stop.

If he disobeys then he can be brought into court, tried for contempt by the judge without a jury trial, and jailed. Southerners protest at the thought of anyone in such a situation being tried without a jury.

The Eisenhower administration and the bill's supporters in Congress argue for trial by judge, without a jury, in a case like that and for these reasons:

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The first circus of the season in 1932 attracted about 5,000 persons to the three performances of the Harrington Shows.

1932
Rough spots in pavement on Broadway were being "ironed out" by a corps of city workers directed by the city engineer, high places being "shaved" down and the low ones filled in.

1932
R. Kenneth Evans, industrial writer, here for a business and industrial survey and to write a series of articles on Sedalia and its trade territory, met with a group of business leaders and industrialists relative to the work contemplated.

1932
Charles M. Howell, seeking the nomination by the Democrats for U.S. Senator, in an address here advocated revision of the tariff downward and took a firm stand for repeal of the 18th Amendment.

FORTY YEARS AGO
When the draft machinery was placed to work in Washington, D.C. Friday morning, July 20, L. J. May, Sedalia, held the corresponding first No. 358 applicable to this county.

1917
Mrs. J. P. Downs and daughter, Geraldine, left for Kansas City where Geraldine was to appear in the opera ballet in Convention Hall in observing "Old Glory" week.

1917
In the 2:15 racing race that went into six heats at Quincy, Ill., Frank Ervin, Sedalia, driving a Minneapolis horse, won first money.

1917
Otto C. Botz returned from Boston, Mass., where he attended the national convention of Elks.

It's faster. It could stop a voting right violation while it was still happening instead of waiting until it was all finished. For example:

If a registrar disobeyed a judge's order he could be tried and jailed before the election, thus making it possible for the Negro to vote. If a jury trial was held, it might not take place until after the election.

These added reasons for trial by judge are given:

It's questionable—if a registrar reflects the attitude of his townspeople in keeping a Negro away from the polls—that his neighbors on the jury would convict him.

Further, there are 28 laws on the books under which a judge by himself can try persons for contempt of his orders and, the reasoning goes, a judge ought to be able to back up his orders with action and punishment.

It's possible the Southerners—if they can't destroy the whole bill—will get Section 4 toned down by an amendment providing for trial by jury instead of by judge.

Does this mean a total loss for Negroes? Not if looked at realistically. This is what would happen if the amended Section 4 still let the attorney general step in to get a court order even though disobedience wound up in a jury trial.

The disobedient individual would be called into court and presented with the complaints or evidence of his disobedience in the form of affidavits from those whose voting rights he had continued to violate.

These would at once become a matter of public record, as would the testimony at the subsequent jury trial.

To the extent that this disclosure had a psychological effect on a Southern community, by drawing national attention to its attitude and activities, the Negroes would stand to gain something. It might have a deterring effect.

It would at least be some gain. Any kind of civil rights legislation would. It would be the first time in this century any kind of civil right measure was passed by Congress. Hitherto Southerners have always blocked it.

But if Section 4 is amended to say the attorney general can't step in unless requested to do so by local officials, the whole thing becomes meaningless for the Negroes.

Local officials who wanted to keep them from the polls would hardly call in the government to stop themselves from doing it.

Women Find Difficulty Getting Big Pay Jobs

By Esther Van Wagoner Tutty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The boss of the biggest business in the world, Mr. USA, isn't setting a shining example to private industry by giving the working gal an equal break on the better paid, policy-making jobs.

Only one half of one per cent of all the Federal employees making $7,040 or over are women, accordingly to the 1954 personnel summary issued by the Civil Service Commission. Nearly a 10 to 1 ratio with the men.

Now, on the low-paying jobs from $2,500 to $4,160, the 522,000 women (out of a total of 2 million working for federal government) do better because the men don't want the "clerical" jobs. Eighty-five out of every 100 women getting government pay checks do clerical or related work.

Yet more and more women seek Federal employment. Women's employment increased 200 per cent between 1939 and 1954. The salaries have advanced slightly since the latest Civil Service Commission summary, but there are more compelling reasons why the applicant wants to work for her government.

Maybe she wants to live in "glamorous" Washington as one out of every five Federal women employees do or in some other city bigger than her home town.

Maybe she's older and finding it difficult to get a job elsewhere and knows the official policy of the government is judging on the basis of ability rather than age.

Then the working conditions are of the best . . . a 5 day work week, liberal vacation and sick leave provisions, compensation for work injuries, retirement benefits, and even maternity leave with employment rights maintained during their absence. The principle of equal pay for equal work applies, but as outside the government the woman has difficulty getting the big-paying jobs.

Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, Director of the Women's Bureau and assistant to the Secretary of Labor for Women's Affairs, had all the available data from the Civil Service Commission on "Women in the Federal Service" compiled and put in a pamphlet.

She speaks of certain gains but has never made any secret of her desire that more women get into the upper brackets of policy and remuneration inside and outside the government.

Of the 48,346 Federal workers in Missouri at the end of the last year, some 11,849 were women.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.
"In the beginning God created . . ." The Bible starts with the statement that God was the first cause of everything.

Today we live in a complicated world. Scientifically we work back from the known to the unknown. Although we cannot explain everything in the world we are able to use many things and many forms.

Much of our daily living is based on faith. Faith in our understanding. Faith in the consistency of forces. Faith in people. Faith in the material and the ethereal.

Occasionally we overlook the fact that God is behind everything. We fail to thank Him for His gifts, for the order of the universe, for the minds we have and for the salvation from human error and sin.

We must reread the first chapter of Genesis and recognize God for what He is.

Missouri Birth Rate Among Nation's Lowest

Missouri's birth rate is one of the lowest in the nation and indications are that it will remain so, according to the state bureau of vital statistics.

Tom Dundon, acting bureau head, said Missouri's present birth rate is 22.7 infants for each thousand population. He said the birth rate has been steadily increasing since it hit the lowest peak of 14.7 per thousand in 1936.

However, Dundon said that because of the low birth rate in the mid-thirties, there are fewer women of child bearing age. Therefore, he feels that unless family size is increased and the economic outlook is bright, the Missouri birth rate may drop.

Missouri stands 42nd in the rank of states in birth rate. The state is also below the national birth rate which is 24.9 per thousand.

According to the vital statistics office, Pulaski county has the highest birth rate in the state with 31.5 infants per thousand persons. Vernon County listed the lowest birth rate with only 11.5 births per thousand population.

Other representative birth rates by county include: Boone, 22.7; Cape Girardeau, 23.2; Cooper, 18.7; Dunklin, 21.7; Henry, 16.3; DeKalb, 18.3; Holt, 16.1; Lawrence, 15.6; New Madrid, 23.8; Pettis, 22.6; St. Charles, 31.3; Jefferson, 28; Washington, 25.1, and Wright, 17.5. While the news of Missouri's birth rate is not encouraging, it is heartening to know that life expectancy in this state is only 12th from the top. The life expectancy in Missouri is 66.8 years for men and 72.5 years for women. That's exactly a half year longer than the national average.

The vital statistics bureau said the lowering birth rate and the added life expectancy in Missouri may be traced to the fact that 15 per cent of the state's population is over 65. Back in 1930, only 10.6 per cent of the Missouri population was over 65 and in 1890, only four per cent of the people here were over 65.

The death rate in Missouri is 10.4 per thousand population. Although this sounds comparatively low, 45 states have lower death rates. The older than average population of Missouri is one explanation for the high death rate.

St. Genevieve County has the lowest death rate at 6.7 deaths per thousand persons. New Madrid and Clay counties are close behind with 6.9 deaths per thousand. Randolph County has the highest death rate with 15.5 deaths per thousand persons.

Representative death rates from other counties include: Boone, 8.7; Cape Girardeau, 10; Cooper, 9.5; DeKalb, 13.3; Dunklin, 7.6; Henry, 14.1; Holt, 12.7; Lawrence, 10.8; Pettis, 11.6; St. Charles, 9; Jefferson, 9.5; Washington, 9.3, and Wright 11.4.

Repeated Nosebleeds Require An Examination

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

"Almost every day my two-year-old son has a nosebleed," writes Mrs. S. "This occurs either during his sleep or after he wakes up. He cries during sleep, but as soon as his nose bleeds he sleeps peacefully. What can cause this and what should be done?"

There are several possibilities for these recurrent nosebleeds and the situation should surely be investigated. Some nosebleeds of this kind appear to come frequently in delicate children. Some outgrow them after a period of months or years without active treatment.

However, I do believe that every youngster (or adult, either) who has frequent nosebleeds should be examined.

After writing a column on nosebleeds several years ago, I received a letter from a medical colleague who has studied the subject extensively and feels that some of these recurrent nosebleeds are the result of hormone disturbance, largely of hereditary origin. These, he feels, can be corrected. It is, of course, possible that Mrs. S.'s son has this form of nosebleed.

Probably some of these nosebleeds come from small ulcers in the nose. Some youngsters pick or scratch the inside of the nose or place objects in it. This will usually lead to trouble.

There is a family form of nosebleed which is sometimes found in several generations. This condition is caused by enlarged blood vessels in the nose which frequently rupture and result in nosebleeds at frequent intervals.

Certain blood diseases can cause nosebleeds. If the blood does not clot properly, bleeding is particularly likely to show up in various openings of the body, including the nose. In fact, nosebleed may be the first sign of some disease of the blood.

Nosebleeds often occur when a person moves to high altitudes. Other possible causes include violent exertion, acute infections and occasionally tuberculosis or chemical poisoning.

A simple nosebleed can usually be checked rapidly. Pressure on the upper lip, the application of cold to the back of the neck, and insertion of a little cotton into the nostril itself are methods normally used.

Rest in a position halfway between sitting and lying, accompanied by muscular relaxation, stops most nosebleeds rather rapidly. In severe cases it may be necessary to cauterize or pack the region around the blood vessels in the nose from which the blood is escaping.

But repeated nosebleeds should always be carefully investigated.

Guest Editorial--

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION: Retirement For Farmers. The Social Security Administration reports itself deluged with self-employed farmers who seek to "retire" on security benefits.

The rate of retirement is a whopping four-times the estimate made in 1954 when the law was broadened to include farmers. The first claims could not be made until 1956, since farmers had to show net earnings of at least $400 in 1955.

This year 400,000 claims have been filed by farmers ready to retire or widows who recently qualified, asking survivors' benefits for themselves and children under 18 years of age.

In 1954 there were 786,000 farmers, 65 or older, with others coming into the 65-age group at the rate of about 100,000 per year.

One of the more practical reasons for the boom in retirement claims is the figures showing that for many farmers today their occupation is a starvation one. Twenty-six per cent of the farmers making less than $1000 per year were in the 65-age group. Only 11 per cent of those making $3000 or more had reached 65.

Then, too, the act covers the "city farmers," a phrase which describes those who own farms and operate them with tenants or hired help to whom they give supervision. Many of these had employment benefits piled up and could retire, turning over their farms to their children or selling them. This policy — turning the land over to sons or putting them on the market—is a common one. But, of course, not too many sons are interested in farm.

The truth is the small farm with its mule and hand labor is too small to make mechanization profitable. There are an estimated one million too many farms in the nation. Of these about two-thirds are in the Southeast. This region has always had most of the farms, because they had more small units. Children on such farms want to leave them for good and valid reasons.

The soil bank already is depleting populations in the purely row-crop regions. Farmers are putting their worst land in "the bank," tenants, who never lived too well anyhow, are of necessity moving off to the nearest job opportunities.

Change goes on. And nowhere does it move with greater speed than in agriculture. With 400,000 farmers applying for retirement this year, which is not yet half gone, it would appear the number of farms soon will be sharply reduced.

Two Good Eggs

Crip, a whooping crane, is whooping it up because he has just become a father! No cigars, but he is proud as punch because one red-brown chick less than six inches tall was recently hatched in a nest at Audubon Zoo in New Orleans. A second chick pecked its way out of its shell a few days following.

The proud parents, Crip and Jo, took turns keeping the last born twin warm while the first one wobbled around the Zoo.

Whooping cranes are rare, practically extinct. The two new chicks raises the total known number of birds to 29 but the family of four in New Orleans and one lonely bird whooping it up in San Antonio, Tex., are the only ones in captivity.

Whooping cranes are the tallest of American birds, standing about five feet as grown birds. They are white with black wing tips that have a spread of about seven feet. Their horn calls can be heard two or three miles away.

Because of their rarity, the new chicks will be watched around the clock by Zoo attendants. The eggs took 43 days to hatch and the chicks about 15 hours to get out of the shell.

Congratulations Crip and Jo and good luck in the preservation of the species—the tallest bird family in America.

National Rural Safety Council Urges Concern About Fatal Farm Accidents

Farm Accidents In Missouri Take 60 Lives

By C. E. Stevens, Jr.
MU Extension
Agricultural Engineer

This week, July 21 to 27, is National Farm Safety Week. The theme for the week is "Safety Makes Sense." The Missouri Rural Safety Council urges you to be concerned about the farm accident problem so that farm life can be made a safer, happier, and more prosperous way of living.

In 1955, 60 Missouri farmers died accidentally while working on their farms. These deaths and the many other non-fatal accidents cost Missouri $8 million a year to say nothing of the suffering and heartache they bring with them. This accident rate is four times as high as all other industries in Missouri put together.

How can you help? Always think safety and act safely. In meetings or groups where you can emphasize safety, do so.

Accidents can be prevented but the only way to prevent them is to refuse to do any unsafe thing, ever. Don't you believe that you can tighten the nut with the motor running this time without getting hurt or that you can adjust the tension on the belt this time without having an accident. For that is when all accidents occur—when people don't think they are going to have one.

During Farm Safety Week especially, we should try to have increased reverence for life. It is so very important to take time to take care. Plan to avoid an overcrowded schedule. Hurry causes many accidents.

The largest single type of farm work accidents is tractors that tip over. One-third of the farm work deaths occur this way. Be careful near road banks or ditches. If you get stuck in a hole deeper than 12 inches, get towed out unless you can back out.

When you are operating farm equipment on the highway, you are in very much greater danger than motorists. Even though you have as much right to the highway as others, pull over whenever your sight distance to the rear is less than 500 feet. Use a flag on a pole so that whether you are on a hill or a level road, motorists behind you can see you sooner. Nine times out of ten in accidents between farm equipment and motor vehicles the farmer gets killed rather than the motorist.

Have red tail lights on all farm equipment pulled on the highway whether or not you think you will be on the highway after dark. Sooner or later you will be. Extension red tail lights that will plug into your tractor are available for wagons or other implements you pull. Don't ever turn on the cultivator lights. These fool motorists into thinking something is approaching in the opposite lane.

Livestock are still involved in many farm accidental deaths. Check and repair livestock equipment. Be open minded toward safety suggestions.

Falls are the second most numerous cause of deaths. Don't leave objects on stairs and in the way. Keep your farm home in order. Have a place for everything and keep things there.

If you would like to do something to make farming safer, see your county agent. He will be glad to suggest some things you can do.

PICKNICKERS — You will see several combination picnic table-benches as shown above at the County 4-H Achievement Days, July 24-26, at the Smith-Cotton High School. There will be an "open house" for the Chamber of Commerce families which include 4-H families and 4-H leader's families. Exhibits may be viewed by the public July 26. The South Abell 4-H woodwork project group made the above combination picnic table-bench. Shown is a group of the South Abell members painting at a special clean up day this spring at the South Abell Community Hall, which was a part of their club Community Improvement activity. Standing, from left to right: Alice Middleton, Judy Brown, Richard Middleton, Emily Brown, Barbara Schneider, and Virginia Hughes. Sitting, Bobby Harrison, Darrell Williams and Richard Harrison.

Watch Seed Peddlers
Each year we have a rash of seed peddlers through the county selling "out of state" seed. Usually they stay within the law but offer seed that is inferior or not acclimated and at exorbitant prices.

One example has been winter oats which are seldom winter hardy this far north. We had one man by the office from Iowa who was selling the recommended soft wheat variety named Vermilion. This seed is still scarce and he may have been justified in his $5.50 price. The real shysters steer clear of this office, however, and if you find them operating in your neighborhood we would like to know about it. Operators working in the state have offered such things as a Miko grass from Colorado which turned out to be rye and Spartan barley from Nebraska which actually included a mixture of varieties.

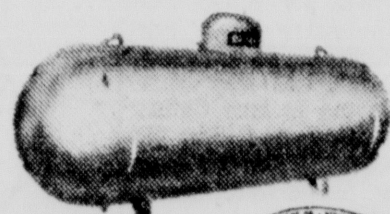

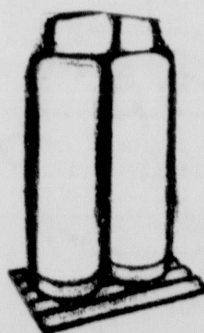

The situation is serious enough that the feed and seed division of the State Department of Agriculture has written all seed stores warning against it.

Holstein Show July 30
Holstein breeders of this area usually have their district show in Pettis County. Last year it was at the Paul Selken farm south of Smithton and this year it will be at the Fairgrounds. The date is Tuesday, July 30, and the time is 1 o'clock.

It is an opportunity for Holstein owners to see good cattle and hear comments of the judge regarding them. Of course the show managers would like to see more cattle exhibited. For information on the show, you can call Don Rages at Smithton, or Lee Dow or Russell McFarrich, who have Sedalia phones.

Agriculture Source of Many Occupations

Arnold Klemme, assistant director of the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station, has pointed out that modern agriculture is the source of many occupations. Although research has decreased the number of people actually engaged in the production phase of agriculture, it has greatly increased the number of people engaged in processing and distributing agricultural products.

A total of 25 million workers, nearly 40 per cent of the total labor force, are engaged in the various phases of agriculture. Machinery, fertilizers, chemicals, and other farm supplies are necessities of production which the farmer must have. The manufacture and distribution of these supplies are major related agricultural industries. Food processing is now a major industry that has moved off the farm.

Klemme also pointed out that the market structure is changing. For instance, food stores are becoming more elaborate and mechanized. The agricultural producer must be alert to the changing consumer demands and produce accordingly.

The American Farm Research Association was formed by the Farm Bureau Federation in 1944 and that organization is still a sponsor of the annual conference.

Alfalfa Proved Successful Crop During Dry Weather

John Falloon, extension soils specialist at the University of Missouri, says more and more Missouri farmers are asking about the possibilities of growing alfalfa on their farms.

In the past dry years, alfalfa proved itself a desirable and dependable hay crop. It yielded well in most cases and survived where other crops died or failed to produce.

Falloon says that in a dairy operation, most dairymen growing alfalfa think at least a half acre per cow is necessary. This means that ten acres of alfalfa would take care of a 20 cow herd. More might be required if the herd was too small to justify a silo and silage production.

This suggested acreage is based on the feed requirements needed for a five month winter feeding period. A large breed cow needs 1 1/2 tons of hay and three tons of silage or 2 1/2 tons of hay alone. A

Behind your telephone bill...machines that can "read"...1,000 conscientious people

One million customers' bills,
40,000 employee pay checks
...all in a month's work for telephone accounting people

As told by A. I. Wissman, general accounting manager, Missouri, to Don Davis, telephone news reporter

PAYING bills will never be the most popular American pastime.

Even so, there's something a lot more satisfying about paying a bill if it's clearly stated, easy to understand—and above all, accurate.

That's why Southwestern Bell's accounting people bear down hard on accuracy in preparing your telephone bill.

"Aside from using the telephone, a telephone bill may be the only direct contact a customer has with our company for months in a row. So we try to make sure it leaves as favorable an impression as possible," says Missouri accounting head A. I. Wissman.

JET AGE METHODS

Getting out a million bills a month accurately and on time takes an efficient, fast-moving system—and some amazing new accounting machines.

One such marvel is part of Direct Distance Dialing. It keeps track of charges for Long Distance calls that can be dialed direct by customers in some cities.

The number of the calling telephone, the city and number of the called telephone, the date, time of day, and length of call are automatically recorded in code on a three-inch wide paper tape.

Later, in the accounting center, the tape is fed through another machine that "reads" the information, punches it in a card so that it may be billed properly — all with built-in safeguards against mistakes.

TAKE IN, PAY OUT

Telephone accountants have many other duties besides preparing your monthly bill.

"For one thing," Wissman laughs, "we certainly enjoy the fond regard of our fellow telephone employees, come payday. Every month we send out 40,000 pay checks to Missouri's telephone people. We also arrange to pay 2,500 suppliers' bills each month. In both these jobs, accuracy is a must."

Some other important Accounting Department jobs: Keeping the company's books according to the accounting system set up by Federal and state authorities. Maintaining records on the cost and progress of hundreds of engineering and construction jobs. And keeping inventory of millions of tools and individual pieces of equipment.

How would he explain the goal of telephone accounting? "Easy," says Wissman. "Even though we seldom meet or talk to customers, our work is just as important to good telephone service as the job of installers, repairmen, or operators.

"So we make every effort to issue bills correctly and on schedule . . . and to keep abreast of technical advances in the business. In short, we do our best—to help keep telephone service good, and improving every day."

Low Head Loses In First Pro Tennis Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Low Head, the $125,000 fledgling of Jack Kramer's professional tennis stable, surveyed his new world today and decided he needs some immediate improvement.

"You can't afford to miss the easy ones in this league," said the Australian who signed with Kramer after he won the Wimbledon title two weeks ago. "Miss a couple when you're an amateur and you still can win, not with the pros," he said.

Head finished his first job for Kramer yesterday in the Tournament of Champions. He wound up with a 2-3 record after bowing to Champion Pancho Gonzales 9-7, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

"But I'm not discouraged," Head said. "After all, it was my first tournament and I thought I did all right all things considered. But I've got to get a more consistent first service, for one thing. As soon as you miss your first serve in this league, you're on the defense."

Head said he thought his tour with Gonzales, starting in January, would produce some good tennis.

The champion, who collected $2,500 for his week's work, said he thought he would beat Head as a steady diet on "consistency."

"He should be tougher on the tour," said Gonzales, "but I don't think he'll gain enough experience to beat me. He's a good boy and I'd rate him even better than most pros and about on a par with Frank Sedgman."

Wimbledon Champion Wins National Clay Court Tournament

CHICAGO (AP)—Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson finally won the tennis championship "I've been chasing since '51" when she breezed past Darlene Hard, 6-2, 6-3 in the national clay courts tournament yesterday.

Miss Gibson's triumph was by the exact score by which she defeated Miss Hard in the Wimbledon finals.

Vic Seixas rallied in the men's finals to defeat defending champion Herb Flam, 1-6, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3. Flam, going for his third clay courts title, found the 90-degree temperatures "sorta hot" after dropping a tough second set decision.

Miss Gibson's victory, her first major title in U. S. play, placed the lanky New Yorker in a class by herself in international women rankings.

Miss Gibson said she plans a complete rest until the Essex County tournament next month.

Crocker, Smith Win 4-Ball Tournament

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—It took them a long time to do it, but Fay Crocker and Marilyn Smith finally have achieved one of their cherished golfing ambitions—winning a tournament together.

The two lady pros, close friends ever since Miss Crocker came to this country from Montevideo, Uruguay, in 1954, have been teaming up in four-ball competition for four years.

But the big payoff eluded them until yesterday, when they captured the $7,500 Hot Springs four-ball tournament and earned a purse of $1,500.

"Next to winning the Women's National open championship in 1955, this is my most satisfying victory," said Miss Crocker as she and her Wichita, Kan., partner were presented the winners' check.

Cards Down Pirates 7-3 In 1st Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, who open a 21-game home stand against Brooklyn tomorrow night, wound up their latest trip flying in the right direction.

Bidding to regain the National League lead, the Cards downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3 in ten innings in the first game of a scheduled double-header at Pittsburgh yesterday. They were ahead 11-2 with one out in the top of the ninth as Pennsylvania's curfew law forced suspension of the second game. It will be finished Aug. 27.

The Athletics lost the opener of their twin bill at Kansas City to Baltimore 7-2 but ruined the Orioles' chance of going into a fifth-place tie with Detroit by upsetting Baltimore 3-2 in the second game.

Not until Aug. 27 will Cardinal fans know whether Stan Musial's record consecutive game streak ended at 862. Musial, who earlier had announced plans to sit out the second game of double-headers the rest of the season, didn't start the game but could get into it when it is resumed.

Don Blasingame's silent bat spoke out in the first game and that was the difference. His two-run single in the tenth broke the deadlock. And his two-run homer in the third was his second hit in 22 times at bat. Willard Schmidt (now 8-1) was the winner in relief.

Bob Cerv's two-run pinch homer in the seventh inning provided the A's with their winning margin in the nightcap and a split in the four-game series. Alex Kellner, who gave up only five hits until Tom Gorman relieved in the eighth, was credited with the victory.

Billy Martin of the A's, working a double steal with Gus Zernial, stole home in the first inning of the opener. Zernial hurt his right leg sliding into third on the play and was forced to leave the game. Wally Burnette was charged with the defeat.

Top Young Players Open Competition In Western Tourney

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—About 175 of the nation's top young tennis players, led by Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., open competition today in the Western junior and boys championships.

The week-long tournament which ends with the finals Saturday will crown a new junior champion since last year's winner, Donald Dell, Bethesda, Md., has reached his 19th birthday.

Crawford is ranked tops in the junior division but will run into sharp competition from Earl Buchholz Jr., St. Louis. Buchholz defeated Crawford last year in the fourth round and is currently ranked No. 3 nationally.

Other highly rated juniors include Charles McKinley, St. Ann, Mo.

Airman Gets Term After Objecting To Getting Haircut

FUCHU, Japan (AP)—A 20-year-old American airman who objected to getting a "white sidewall" haircut was convicted of disobeying orders today and sentenced to four months at hard labor.

The airman, Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., also was sentenced to lose $200 in pay and reduction to the rank of basic airman—private—from airman third class. Wheeler contended that he had "challenged" an order to get a "white sidewall" haircut because he had received a regulation Air Force trim only the day before the order was given. A "white sidewall" strips the hair from the ears to the crown, leaving only a fringe on top.

After the court-martial board returned its verdict, Wheeler asked: "Can you imagine anybody going to jail for not getting a haircut?"

The charges against Wheeler did not mention haircuts and the Air Force contended it was a routine matter of military discipline.

Jay's Kid Brother

Lionel Hebert Emerges New Champion of PGA Tourney

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Lionel Hebert, a chunky, keen-eyed product of Louisiana's Evangeline land, emerged from under his brother's protective wings during the 39th PGA championship and now stands by himself as a golfer of first magnitude.

Up to a few days ago, Lionel was best known as the younger brother of Jay Hebert, one of the leading golf pros. He was pretty well satisfied and complained only because Jay didn't have the killer instinct to win more often.

Then in a dramatic finale, the kid brother came through with a 2 and 1 triumph over Dow Finsterwald, the young moneybags of the golf tour, and the tables were turned.

Jay never has won a national title; Liney now has one. Lionel is almost certain of the place on the Ryder Cup team, which will play Britain's top pros in October. Jay probably won't make it.

From 49th place on the PGA money winning list, Lionel moved up to 15th. His $8,000 first prize gave him a year's total of $10,968. Jay, earning only $1,500 for seventh place, still is seventh, about $4,000 ahead.

The younger Hebert, a surprise finalist in a tournament where such stars as Sam Snead, Jackie Burke, Doug Ford, Gene Littler and Ed Furgol couldn't even make the quarter-finals, came out boldly at the finish to win.

For the first 18 holes under the steaming sun on the baked Miami Valley Golf Club course, they sparred through some defensive maneuvers. Only four holes in the morning were won or lost.

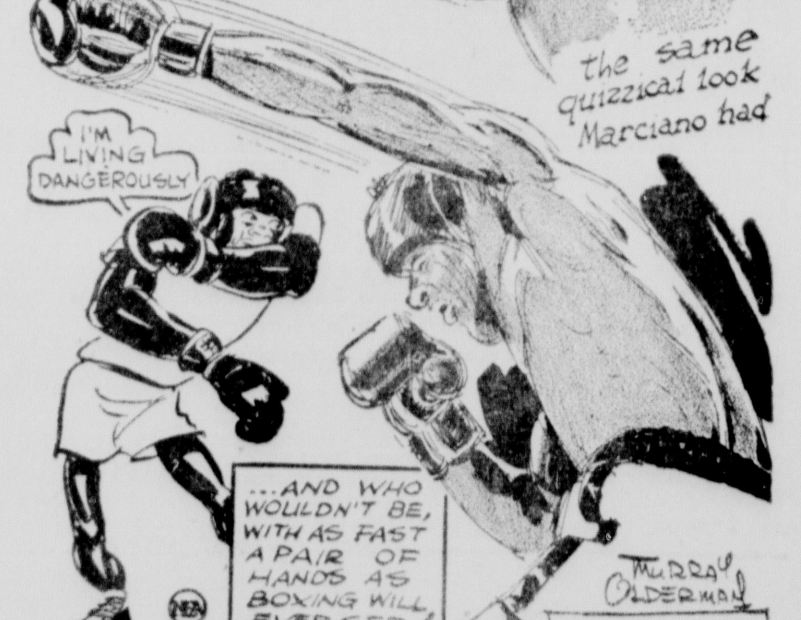

Then the 185-pound Hebert began moving like a heavyweight who has seen his opponent's guard drop. He fired three straight birdies—a long second shot for one, a 10-foot putt for another and a perfect approach for a third.

Finsterwald, a calm young shot-maker who doesn't panic, got two holes back in short order and finally squared the mark for the 30th hole. Undismayed, Hebert rolled in a long birdie putt at the 31st, then birdied the next two while Finsterwald matched strokes with him. Hebert finally got another hole for a cushion when Finsterwald put his second shot in a ditch at the 34th.

Redlegs Are Sizzling Again; NL Race Continues Bubbling

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The pitching of Brooks Lawrence and the hitting of George Crowe, has the hot-and-cold Cincinnati Redlegs sizzling again, spelling bad news for the other four National League contenders.

They said Lawrence, acquired by the Reds in a trade with St. Louis the winter before last, was lucky last year when he won 19 games. They said Crowe, obtained from Milwaukee last year for a third stringer named Bob Hazle, was too old, too slow and too weak with the stick.

Today the Redlegs, after a 4-2 and 6-4 double-header sweep over Philadelphia, are only two games behind the pace-setting Milwaukee Braves, largely because Brooks turned in his 11th triumph of the season and Crowe walloped his 22nd home run.

In other National League games Milwaukee split with New York, winning the second game 7-4 after the Giants had won the opener 5-4. Brooklyn gained a split with Chicago, winning 7-2 after a 5-4 defeat. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-3 in 11 innings of the opener and led 11-2 with one out in the top of the ninth when the second game was halted by Pennsylvania's curfew law.

Chicago's White Sox pulled within 4½ games of the American League-leading New York Yankees, shutting out the Boston Red Sox 3-0. The Cleveland Indians come from behind to down the Yankees 7-4 after losing the opener 4-3.

Detroit nipped Washington 6-5 in 10 innings when rookie pitcher Jim Heise of the Senators walked across the winning run with the bases loaded. Kansas City beat Baltimore 3-2 after the Orioles had won the opener 7-2.

Lawrence gave up five hits to the Phillies before he was relieved by Raul Sanchez in the eighth of the opener. Crowe's two-run homer and a four-bagger by Gus Bell was enough to hand Robin Roberts his seventh straight defeat and 13th of the season. A 16-hit attack, including three hits each by Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Roy McMillan, moved the Reds up into fourth place past the Phillies.

Lawrence, 32, has been the workhorse of the Redlegs, relieving in 10 games besides starting 19. Crowe, 34, hit four home runs in the last five days, the Reds winning five of the six games.

Johnny Logan got 5-for-5 and Del Crandall drove in two runs with a home run and two singles as the Braves scored all their second-game runs in the last three innings to come from behind a 4-0 deficit. A two-run single by pinch hitter Hank Sauer in the ninth won the first game for the Giants. A five-run fourth, highlighted by

Lightweights Lead Off Week Of Heavy Bouts

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

Almost dwarfed in a week when heavyweights dominate the boxing scene, two little men clash tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in New York. Bobby Courchesne of Holyoke, Mass., and Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, figure to get the week off to a fast start although the outcome will have little to do with any title rankings.

The 10-round lightweight match will be seen on Du Mont TV in some sections.

Floyd Patterson swings into the final week of training for his heavyweight title defense, Monday, July 29, against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson at New York's Polo Grounds. The champ is drilling at Greenwood Lake, N.Y., while Jackson is working on the shores of the Delaware River at Columbia, N.J.

Eddie Machen, the young man who may be boxing Patterson or could it be Jackson? for the championship a year from now, faces hulking Bob Baker of Pittsburgh on the Wednesday show from Chicago Stadium.

Alex Miteff, another unbeaten heavyweight with his eyes on the future, takes on Julio Mederos, a veteran of 40 fights, in a Friday TV bout at Washington.

Family to Return Home After 4-Month Stay in Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—An American businessman and his family were en route home today to a "quiet family" homecoming in Cincinnati after an unauthorized stay of almost four months in Red China.

Donald J. Blackwood, his Korean wife and child left by plane this morning for Tokyo, Seattle and home. His father, Cincinnati restaurant operator James V. Blackwood, said there would be no celebration.

The family arrived in Hong Kong July 12 from Macao. They had disappeared from the Portuguese enclave March 28, slipped into China against U.S. government regulations and then been expelled.

Two Greats In Baseball's Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Marse Joe McCarthy and Wahoo Sam Crawford formally enter Baseball's Hall of Fame today.

Although McCarthy never made the majors as a player, he left his mark as a manager with nine pennants, eight of them with the New York Yankees. Under McCarthy's rule, the Yanks won seven World Series.

Crawford, 77, has been out of baseball since 1917. He collected 2,964 hits in 19 big league seasons at Cincinnati and Detroit.

Both McCarthy, 70, and Crawford were able to be present to accept the honors piled on them last February by the special 11-man Veterans Committee.

Under the new system of Hall of Fame voting, adopted last year, new members are selected on alternate years by the Veterans Committee and the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Assn.

In recent years, McCarthy has been a regular visitor to this historic community on Otsego Lake where Abner Doubleday is supposed to have scratched out the first diamond with a stick.

The dedication of the plaques to the new members always is the most important business of the day. Later the crowd adjourns to Doubleday Field, where over 9,000 seats have been sold for the annual big league exhibition game.

If they had known the standings in advance, the directors couldn't have picked a better pairing than the 1957 game — St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago White Sox.

a split with Baltimore. Hee Brown stopped the A's with six hits in the opener as Tito Francona drove in three Baltimore runs with a home run, double and single.

Members of House of Lords Get New Life, at $10 a Day

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON—(NEA)—No one knows how many of Britain's 850 peers attend the House of Lords with peanut butter sandwiches tucked in their coronets.

No statistics are kept of the number of duchesses who darn their husbands' socks, nor of the earls who put cardboard in their shoes to keep out the rain.

Their number must be considerable, however, for the peerage runs the gamut from multimillionaires to total indigence, according to The Economist. "There are peers in doss houses and peers in castles," The Economist states flatly.

Now, happily, all this is to be changed. For their lordships, the peers of the realm, have just voted themselves an expense allowance amounting to $10 per day, tax free, for every session attended.

For the first time in its 1,000-year history, the House of Lords is to pay its members for their labors.

The move is a desperate one on the part of the Macmillan government to pump new life into the House of Lords and to bolster up its sagging attendance.

And already it has had unexpected results. Among those lured from retirement by the per diem baft is Lord Grey de Ruthyn, 73, who has boycotted the House of Lords for the past 18 years because he could not afford to attend.

While Lord Grey could scarcely be called an infusion of new blood, he promises some lively debates. For Lord Grey is president of the League Against Cruel Sports, and, as such, he will sit in the Lords as a representative of man's four-footed friends.

"Suez and things like that leave me cold," declares his lordship. "But I have always wanted to get up in the House and speak for the animals. They have so few friends in high places."

It will take more than Lord Grey and ten bucks a day expenses to save the House of Lords, in the opinion of most observers. Britain's second chamber is slowly dying from lack of interest, as reflected in its poor attendance, they assert.

If the House of Commons is "London's best club," as Sir Winston Churchill once asserted it was, the House of Lords is a morgue, a sort of elephant's burial ground where tired political pachyderms go to rest.

One no longer speaks of a man being elevated to the peerage, but of him being buried with honors in the Lords.

Of its 850 members, only a quarter take an active interest in the House of Lords; and of these, about 100 are in regular attendance three times a week. A head count of 80, which is the number who showed up to vote themselves expense allowances, is considered normal.

Not all of Britain's peers are eligible to sit in the House of Lords (some have not bothered to take the oath to the Queen). Irish peers have no seats, though some Irish peers have a subsidiary U.K. peerage giving a seat. Scotch peers elect 16 from their number to represent them. Peeresses in their own right are not, as yet, admitted.

The lords temporal are swelled by the lords spiritual, meaning the Archbishops of Canterbury and Westminster plus the 24 senior bishops of the Church of England. They are also reinforced by the 140 Lords (for the House of Lords is Britain's highest legal tribunal).

Politically, the House of Lords is lopsided. Only 58 of its members have accepted the Labor Party whip; and of these Labor peers, no less than 43 were created by Clement Attlee (himself, now an earl) when the Labor government was in power, 1945-51. The balance of the peers are Tories.

Nearly half of the peers are in their seventies, and recently, Lord Droghda, 73, complained that his vote was not being counted because he could not sprint fast enough "even though I run like a hare," to the division lobbies. (Members of Parliament vote, not by pressing buttons, but by filing into "Aye" and "No" lobbies, where their noses are counted.)

As a result of the protest, the time limit for filing into the division lobbies before the doors are locked has been extended from three minutes to four.

Not many peers bother to vote, however. Most are too busy shopping their stately homes to sight-seers at two-bits a time, or attending the board meetings of corporations with which they are connected. A lawyer or other professional man stands to lose as much as $150 a day by attendance at the Lords.

Exceptions occur when the government has a controversial measure, such as commercial television, up for consideration or when it needs to muster votes to kill a bill, such as the labor-sponsored bill to abolish capital punishment. Then the British nation is treated to a rare spectacle.

Down come the castle drawbridges, up go the portcullises, and out comes the army of octogenarians. These are known as "backwoodsmen," or "the bathchair brigade." Many of them may not have visited London since the coronation of Edward VII, but, brandishing their ear-trumpets, they now descend upon Westminster Palace to do their government's bidding.

Oldest member of the House of Lords is said to be the Marquis of Winchester, 94, who has never been seen within its precincts by any of the present lobby correspondents.

Among its most distinguished members are the Marquis of Salisbury, whose family, the Cecil, have been "king makers" since Elizabeth I; Earl Attlee, the former Labor prime minister; Viscount Samuel, Liberal elder statesman; Viscount Halifax, former British foreign secretary, and Lord Templewood (the former Sir Samuel Hoare).

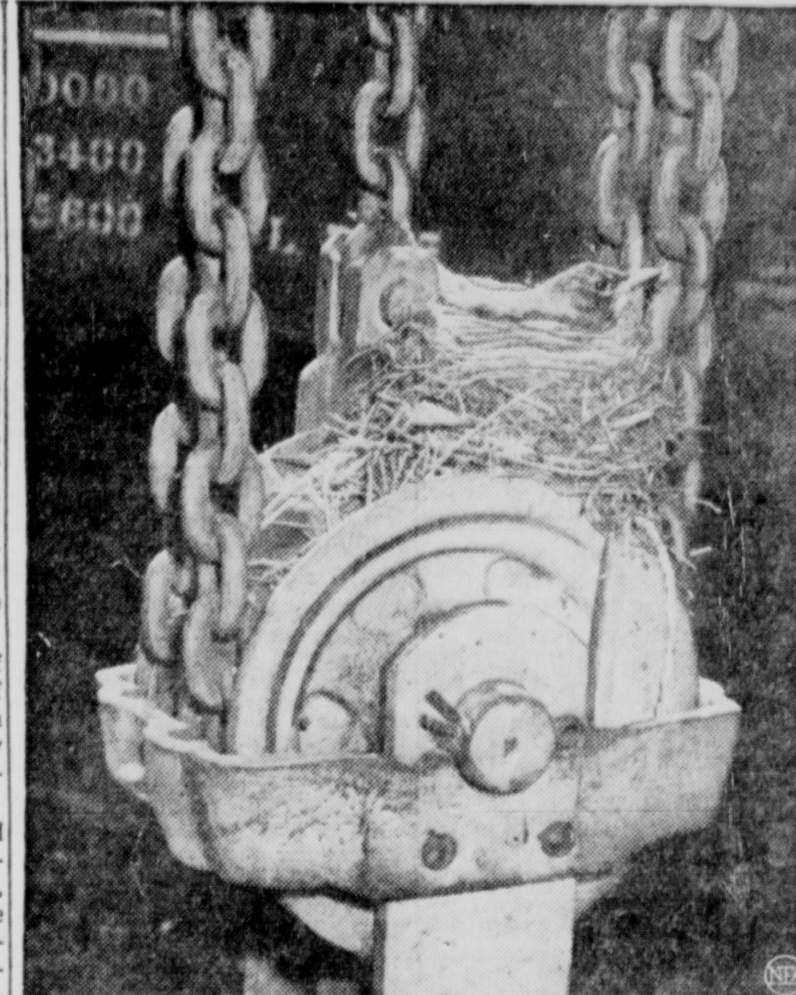

The advent of Lord Grey de Ruthyn, who, as head of the League Against Cruel Sports, is the foe of fox-hunting, stag-hunting and other blood sports, should meet with a rough passage, however. No less than 21 per cent of Britain's peers list "hunting, shooting and fishing" as their recreations in Who's Who.

See Changes In Technology Of Agriculture

Speakers at the conference of the American Farm Research Association held recently on the University of Missouri campus said there are many changes coming in agricultural production and technology.

However, one speaker that didn't see much change for the future in one area was Gordon Nance, agricultural economist at the University of Missouri. Speaking on the outlook for farm prices, Nance said he didn't expect any material increase or decrease in the profit of farming during the coming years. He said we are "consistently producing more agricultural products than we can sell at current prices and have accumulated large surpluses. We are unwilling to reduce prices to the point at which these products will sell, nor will we reduce production to where it will sell at the prices demanded."

Nance said he expects the size of farms to continue to increase. The number of part time and residential farms will also increase. As for the current outlook for business in general, Nance said in the picture doesn't indicate any big change from the rising trend followed in five of the last seven years.

Metal Plane Canopy Crashes in Suburbs

PHILADELPHIA—A metal and plastic plane canopy from an Air National Guard F98 jet interceptor plane crashed into a residential neighborhood in suburban Havertown yesterday.

The canopy narrowly missed several homes and buried itself in a mound of dirt in the midst of a new housing development. It fell about 50 yards from the nearest dwelling.

The pilot, Lt. Mark Pfeiffer, said the covering ripped loose as he was making his long distance approach to International Airport. He landed safely.

Boy Has Met Girl In a Gorilla Cage

DALLAS—A boy met girl in the zoo gorilla cage Saturday, but it didn't have much effect until yesterday when the girl tried the direct approach — a good right hand to the chops.

Zoo officials hope it will result, eventually, in a family, something that doesn't happen often.

Jenny, a 3-year-old fresh from the Canary Islands, moved in on 2-year-old Jimmy Saturday. But he ignored her until, to the delight of a Sunday zoo crowd, she slapped him this way and that.

Now Jimmy pays attention, but zoo director Pierre Fontaine said they had plenty of time anyway, because gorillas don't mature until about 18.

Boy Receives Burns, Knocks Out Power By Pounding Spike

CHELSEA, Mass. — Frank Pezzuto is 9 and normal and therefore likes to try experiments.

He had a spike and a rock yesterday. So what to do? He started pounding the spike with the rock on the wall in the rear of the police station.

The spike hit a "live" electric cable. There was an explosion and a puff of smoke. Frank held his blackened left hand as the lights went out in police headquarters and policemen came running on the double.

They took Frank to the hospital for treatment of superficial burns. Twenty repairmen were called to fix the cable and all power in the stationhouse was out for three hours.

Place Armed Guards At Liberace House

HOLLYWOOD — The San Fernando Valley homes of pianist Liberace and his two brothers are being watched by armed guards.

The guards have been posted as a result of the attack made last Thursday night on the pianist's mother Mrs. Frances Liberace Casadonte. She said two big men jumped on her and beat her unconscious on the service porch of Liberace's home. She is in a hospital.

Liberace's attorney John R. Jacobs Jr. said the guards were posted at the home of the pianist and his brothers George and Rudy because "we can't take a chance." He added: "You don't know how to combat something you don't understand. What else can we do?"

State Travelers To Face Larger Traffic Volume

With gasoline consumption and auto mileage edging ahead of last year's record pace, Missouri vacationers will face an increased volume of traffic this summer, the State Highway Patrol reported today.

Capt. John A. Berglund, chief of the patrol's safety division, said the increase in highway congestion for the next few months will mean more hazards for the driver. July and August will be the heaviest traffic months, the captain said, because they are the months in which most people take their vacations.

Travel in the spring and summer months is usually perceptibly higher than in other months of the year, Berglund said. He added that June, the first month of summer, was the worst month for traffic deaths so far this year. In fact, it was almost the worst on patrol records.

"June could have been the turning point of the year. If that's true, then Missouri is in for a bad time on the highways. If the trends of past years hold true there will be an acceleration in the number of traffic deaths during the second half of the year."

He said the number of deaths this year may depend on what happens this summer. He went on to say:

"My advice to summer drivers is that more precaution will be necessary for motorists to stay out of trouble when the chances of getting in trouble are greatly increased. To the hazard of congested highways there is the added danger created by drivers who are eyeing the scenery when they drive."

"Every traffic accident is mute testimony that safe driving requires 100 per cent of the driver's attention. Any thing less—just one second less—could mean trouble for the driver and his passengers."

CONSTIPATED? new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

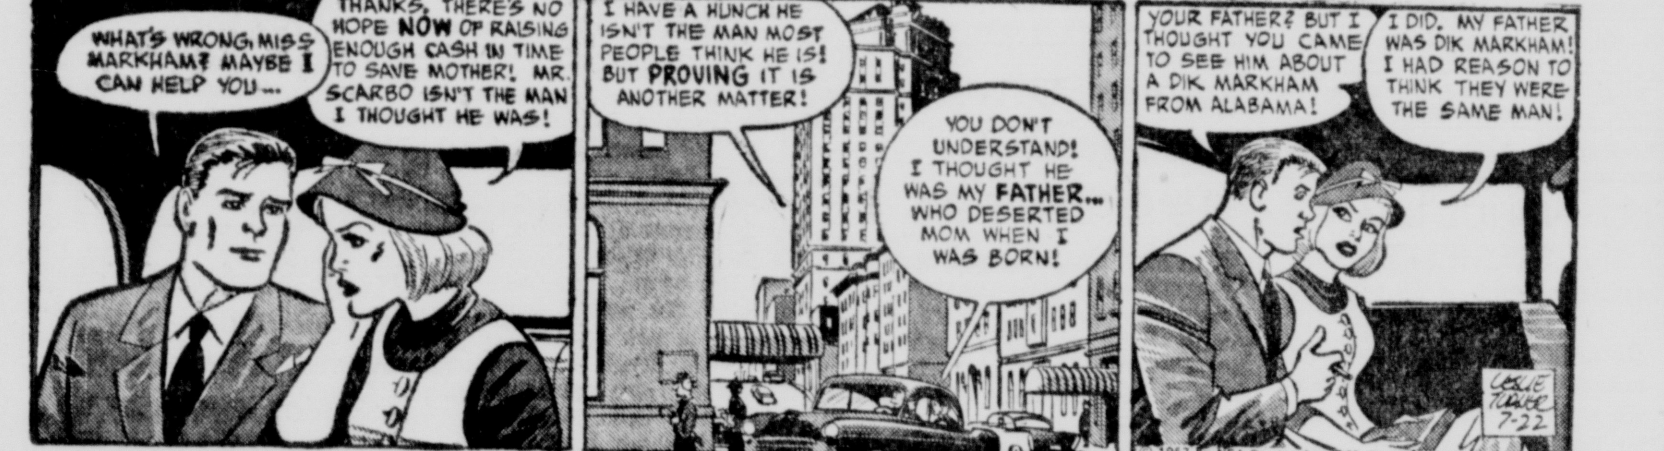

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

AND, OF ALL LAXATIVES, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moistening capacity plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk that activates normal colonic reflexes. So effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy. SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions. IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Business Executive Became Rich By Giving Money Away

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Bernard Spero is a man who became rich by giving money away.

"I may be a crazy idealist," said Spero, a 63-year-old Chicago business executive, "but I've had the privilege of living a life I believe in—and most people don't get that privilege."

Spero is head of House of Vision, Inc., a Midwest optical firm with 23 branches in five states. His "crazy idealism" has consisted of a profit sharing plan under which he has given away 49 per cent of his firm to his employees.

The firm was small and debt ridden and doing only about $90,000 worth of business a year in 1924 when Spero, a young engineer, took it over. It had doubled its volume by 1938 when Spero decided to distribute 24 per cent of the stock to key employees as a bonus, and to donate another 25 per cent into a trust fund to benefit all employees.

"I had several reasons for doing this," he recalled, "one was selfish. I wanted to build a good organization, and I decided that a human being, since he is a flexible organism, would work twice as hard if he felt he was really getting what was coming to him—and not just a living wage."

"Another reason was my feeling that a man who puts a lifetime into helping build a business really deserves something more than a gold watch after 25 years."

Spero's employees contribute 2 per cent of their salary to the fund. The fund itself, in addition to its share of the dividends, gets 20 per cent of the firm's net earnings before taxes. The firm grossed nearly four million dollars in 1956.

Business has mushroomed the value of the employees' fund with these typical results:

A paraplegic worker who joined the firm in 1944 and gets $90 a week has paid into the fund only $900, but his share is now $12,600.

A $300 a month bookkeeper has contributed $645 to the fund since 1950 but her share now amounts to $7,932.

An $8 a week messenger boy who rose to become a branch manager has paid $2,474 into the fund since 1939 but now has a stake of $41,411. If the firm continues its present growth, in another 10 years his stake will amount to $150,000 or more.

Spero rewards key employees with annual bonuses, but to keep executives "from hogging the fund" limits their share in it by restricting their contributions to 2 per cent of their first $10,000 in salary.

He applies the same rule to himself. While he has the largest share in the fund, it comes to only $68,000.

Spero is hopeful that other firms will adopt similar profit-sharing plans because "they would help to make all business sound and healthy."

"This system is an answer to many of our economic problems. It is one way small business can prosper, compete with big business, and keep peace between labor and management."

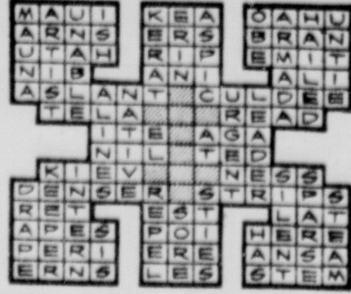

Although Spero still owns 51 per cent of his firm, he has pledged that in the event of his death or retirement his survivors will retain only 12 1/2 per cent of the stock, leaving his employees the

Hot Weather Seen for East Half of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another day of hot and humid weather appeared likely for wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today after a weekend of scorching temperatures.

Deaths attributed to the heat and drownings mounted. At least 39 persons drowned as millions flocked to lakes and streams seeking relief from the oppressive heat.

There was some possibility of a little relief in northern Midwest areas but none in the sun-baked areas in the Middle Atlantic states southward through Georgia.

The Eastern Seaboard, from Virginia to New York, sweltered in the summer's hottest weather yesterday. Thermometers bubbled past the 100-degree mark in many cities, including Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia.

The 103 reading at Baltimore was near the record 104 for the date. Washington sizzled in 101 heat, the highest reading in the nation's capital in three years. The millions in New York City felt just as hot with a torrid 97.3 degrees, and in Wilmington, Del., the mercury registered 102.

Readings in the 90s were general in many other sections of the country and high humidity added to the discomfort.

Michigan reported 21 persons drowned over the weekend, while in New York there were 10 drownings. There were at least 3 each in Illinois and Colorado and 2 in New Jersey. Two men died in Kansas City, Kan., hospitals after suffering heat exhaustion.

A golfer collapsed and died on a course near Chicago and in New York a man collapsed after a tennis match.

A cool front that had been fairly stationary for several days across northern Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and the northern Great Lakes region started to move southward during the night.

Showers and thunderstorms broke out in a narrow belt from the upper Great Lakes region southwestward into parts of the central and southern Plains.

Brought Horses

The American Indians did not have horses before the arrival of Europeans, upon this continent. First horses seen by the Indians were those brought over by the Spanish invaders of Mexico.

Rabid Patriot

A "jing" is a rabid patriot who favors a spirited and aggressive foreign policy for his country. Originally, the term was employed merely as a mild oath.

Man Passes Own Collection Plate

NEW YORK (AP)—A former Los Angeles liquor salesman has been charged with passing his own collection plate at evangelist Billy Graham's rally in Yankee Stadium.

Police said Louis Silver, 46, posed as an usher and collected about $500 in the huge throng Saturday night. He was nabbed as he left the stadium and was charged with grand larceny.

Silver was held in $1,500 bail for a hearing Thursday.

Pleasure Ride Ends in Death To Youngsters

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—A day of pleasure riding in a rattletrap car ended in death on a railroad crossing for eight youngsters yesterday.

The youths had been riding around in the 1941 model car all day. Only minutes before the Southern Railway freight hit them, one boy, scared by what he called "some reckless driving," had left the auto.

Dead were Charles Allen, 13; his two sisters, Frances, 14, and Josephine, 15; Betty Bray, 15; James Richards, 16; James Calhoun, 12; Charles Simms, 16; and Ronald Davis, 17. All were from Somerset.

Sheriff Gilmore Phelps quoted 15-year-old Donald Hawk as saying he had been riding with the other youngsters but became frightened when some of the boys began wrestling to see who would drive.

Phelps said witnesses told him the car approached the crossing at about 35 to 40 miles an hour with a flat tire and a broken tie rod.

The car, dragged nearly half a mile by the train, burst into flames.

Five of the youths were pinned inside. Three were thrown clear. Coroner Kenneth Gibbs said the train's crewmen told him the freight was going about 50 miles an hour when it hit the car.

Phelps said an investigation will be held Friday to determine if any negligence was involved.

The youngsters—all close friends—had gone swimming earlier in the day and spent several hours "just driving around," Phelps said.

2 Koreans Sentenced To Death for Mass Murder 11 Years Ago

UTSUNOMIYA, Japan (AP)—Two Koreans were sentenced to death today for a mass murder they committed 11 years ago.

Pak Yol Keun, 31, and Choi Ki Eop, 22, broke into a store in Nikko May 3, 1946, murdered six members of a sleeping family, stole money and clothing, then burned the store and six neighboring houses.

Police said Pak was arrested last year on other charges, confessed to the Nikko killings and named Eop as an accomplice.
